What was the session about:

Meeting started with conflicts

Speaker came with that we have a world with multiple conflicts happening today (present).

Wars are going on within the nation's internal wars. He said that the south Asia had perennial hostility since 1947 between India and Pakistan.

In south Asia we can see multiple cultures coexisting and it is not just multiple cultures coexisting in away from each other.

It is Multiple cultures within the individuals living in south Asia.

Speaker presented the Parade of border forces of India and Pakistan. This happens morning and evening.

What I liked about session:

Speaker introduced the festival “BASANT PANCHAMI”. They will be singing and dancing. The fact is that this festival is celebrated by both HINDUS and MUSLIMS since from 800 years.

Celebration of Basant was started by the Sufis. He showed us Hazard Nizamuddin Auliya in Delhi.

It is the prominent figures of the Sufi order Justina, which spreads the equality in India some 800 years ago.

Nizamuddin Auliya had a favorite disciple Amir Khusro.

Something I liked in the Session:

AISI TAISI HYPOCRISY it is a session between India and Pakistan.

in this context the speaker said let us stop abusing each other and let's work out on our problems and let's educate our children.

The points raised by Indians and Pakistan were really good. I like most this in this session.

My Takeaways from the session:

I liked the way that Basant Panchami festival was celebrated by both Hindus and Muslims. This shows us love and irrespective of the gender. So, one should not be separated by his caste and religion.
